

DRINKING WATER ADVISORY INFORMATION

If you have received an automated phone message instructing you to boil water, this page will help you understand what actions you should take. A boil water notice means is that potentially harmful bacteria could be present in the water supply. This advisory does not mean the water is contaminated, but rather that it could be contaminated. The affected area is limited, but if you have received the automated call instructing you to boil water, or a door hanger with instruction about boiling water you are in the affected area. Avion is in the process of confirming that the water is free of contaminants through laboratory testing. Since the water quality has not yet been confirmed and contaminated water could make you sick, customers should assume the water is unsafe and take appropriate precautions.

Do not drink the water without boiling it first.

HOW TO BOIL

Customers should bring water to a rolling boil for 1 full minute, allow the water to cool before using, and store the cooled water in a clean container with a cover. Customers should use boiled water that has cooled or bottled water for:

WHEN TO BOIL

- * Drinking
- * Brushing teeth
- * Washing fruits and vegetables
- * Preparing food and baby formula
- * Making ice
- * Cleaning food contact surfaces

We will contact you when the water tests show no bacteria and the boil water notice has been lifted. We anticipate resolving the problem within 24 to 36 hours.
